MEMORIAL DAY.

A Splendid Address Delivered by Rev. Frederick A. Hamilton.
Other Exercises.

Last Saturday afternoon, at the hour of four o'clock, many residents of Columbia assembled in the cemetery, the annual custom, to decorate the graves of their dead, ones they loved in their lifetime, and whose memory they revere.

After the graves had been decorated the congregation was called together by singing which was followed by a fervent prayer by Rev. J. S. Chandler. Mrs. Ray Montgomery then rendered a solo, most beautifully, and at the conclusion of which came Rev. Hamilton's address which follows:

"Graves are not new in the experience of the race. They are contemporaneous with sense of bereavement and the falling of tears. They are old as life itself. Truly, life is different today in many of its aspects and relations than in the days of our fathers. It is more varied and myriad in its interests, more complex in its adjustments. It is swifter in its movement, and the stream has widened and deepened. Yet the habitation of the heart tenants, as of yore, the issues of life. The determining motive and ultimate satisfactions of men and women are much the same as ever they were. The soul, in its hungers and longings and aspirations, must achieve its quietude in the attainment of the same far-off goals that were set for the men and women of the past.

"Consider! It is verily true we do many things differently from the ways of doing when our fathers lived and loved and worked. We hold converse by wire or without it. We are whirled here and there and everywhere in carriages driven by controlled lightning. Bird-men make conquest of the air. But, essentially, we have done no more than quickened the pace—the character of the journey and its destination remain the same. We come at the last, some sooner and some later, to the scant measure of earth, and the gray mound shaped and smoothed above us by ministrations of loving hands, as our final inheritance. Meantime, manhood is crowned by the same old virtues, stained by the same old sins, and laden by the same old sorrows. Childhood with song and laughter, youth with its dream and visioning, mature life bearing as of old the burden and heat of the day, old age stepping westward into the lengthening shadows of the setting sun—this even unto now is the sum of the tale of human life. Times have changed and customs altered, but we die as our fathers died before us. No, the graves are not new.

"So we are here this afternoon in this beautiful acre of God that we may memorialize those of our dear ones whom we have loved long since and lost awhile. We have strewn their graves with sweet forgetmenots and fragrant immortelles, being unwilling that their memories should fade into any languor of forgetfulness. And this motive in the human heart that would uprear monuments and mark the last resting place of the dead has an history that stretches from now back into the twilight of conjecture and dawn of time. In the tombs of the Egyptians and the urns of the Babylonians and the century-defying sarcophagi of the immortal East we meet this pathetic testimony to the human instinct that will not let die the memory of those journeyed on before. The memorial instinct is an instinct immortal. And all over this our land to eastward and northward and westward today, and earlier still to the southward, once every year, men and women and little children go out to the cemeteries reverentially to place on the graves of soldierly mute tokens of love and honor, in foliage and blossom, to those who wore the gray and to those who wore the blue, and who locked arms in deadly conflict half a century ago. So we fill our Arlington and New Orleans and Gettysburg acres with monuments, wreathing these with flowers every little while, to the end that those who on the field of battle dared and died perish not in memory from the minds of men.

"But more enduring, as I take it, than bronze and marble is the instinct, rising from out the heart in such simple and forthright fashion, and that brings us here this afternoon as neighbors and friends in this community service of memorial and offering of decoration. For this is peculiarly a service and a commemoration of love. It is a custom that is perennial, a custom that may not stale or wither or die. It is deathless as the instinct which prompts it, an instinct vital and fundamental because fed out of the tides of heart's affection. For what is so deathless as love, or so so imperial in its bidding? Love goes deeper than any grave. Many waters cannot quench it, nor storm nor tempest.

"For took you! In this hallowed place of the dead lie mothers and fathers and husbands and wives, here a wee babe and yonder and aged grand-sire whose hoar head fell before the Reaper's scythe like unto grain ripe for the sheaf. Here, also, mingling their dust with that of their mother Earth, lie those who have occupied places of distinction in church and state, saints in plenty and directors in affairs not a few. Here are those whom the world could never spoil, and here, alas, are those whose lives were warped and twisted and gnarled by sin. For it must be true that here, also, in their long, last sleep, repose those who were marred and scarred and seared by the hot breath of appetite and desire, and whose unruly and turbulent passions carried them along as by maddened steeds. Yet love levels to a common denominator, and in the silent craftsmanship of Death, love forgets and forgives. Love may, yea, love does, forget frailty and foible and weakness. But love will never let go the memory of a life that has lived by its side. Sin cannot weary love, nor lapse of time change it.

"And it is love, and naught else, that brings us, families and friends, together this afternoon.

"Moreover, this love says concerning its departed loved ones, that they are not forever lost to sight and sense. It declares that in the 'Beautiful Isles of Somewhere' these live on, and that, after awhile, there shall be reunion. One may not argue with such instinct as this. Love will have it no other way but that 'Though a man die, he shall live again.' And love is right. This instinct of love is infallible. There must be no ending to life. Life is too sacred. Life is too costly. It has breathed into it the life of God, and God cannot die. If God is forever, so is life. Love says so, and love is the sum of life. Love is subtler and more cleared-eyed than any science. Love knows and will take no denial in this matter of immortality. A man, great in many respects, stood one time at the bier of his brother to say something that might bring cheer to bereaved hearts. But all that he could forecast as to the future was that perhaps 'listening faith could catch the rustle of a wing.' Another man stood above the stilled form of his dead brother, and as he gave thanks for the departed life, and sought succor for bereaved ones at the throne of the heavenly grace, men who heard him said that it seemed that as Moody prayed the very heavens opened, and the angels of God ascended and descended on the devoted head of that godly son of man. Yea, love, taught of faith, says it can glimpse the after-whiles. Tennyson voiced it in 'In Memoriam,' concerning his friend Hallam. So did James Whitcomb Riley:

'Ah, the endless after-whiles!
Leagues on leagues, and miles on miles
In the distance far withdrawn, Stretching on and on and on,
Till the fancy seems footsore
And sinks in the dust before
The last milestone's granite face.
Hacked with 'Here beginneth space'
Ah, far distant winds and wings,
Mystic smiles and beckonings,
Lead us through the shadowy aisles
Out into the After-whiles.'

"Believe, my friends, in the instinct of love. Carry away with you from this place the sure knowledge that love will have its way in final reunion. Let me tell you a story in which this deep meaning of love is caught and held. I would that you carry it in your hearts, for it has the secret of love and deathless life:

"Once upon a time there was a little girl, and she fell sick. She was her father's only child. And every night, on going to bed, she had been used to coming into her father's study, clad in her white night-robe, to kiss him good-night. And she always threw her arms about his neck, and said: 'Good night, daddy, I'll see you again in the morning.'

"While she was ill, her father had come to her room to give the good-night greeting, because she could not come to him. And it was always the old formula: 'Good night, dear daddy, I'll see you again in the morning.' But finally came the time against which the father had been steeling himself. But even on that last night she did not fail him. For as father laid his cooling cheek against her hot and fevered one, she said, as always before: 'Good night, dear daddy, I'll see you again in the morning.'

"And it was even so. For when the father had done his appointed task, and the days work was over, he went out, also, into the evening. And folks say, and so I believe, that they are all three in the morning-land—the mother, who died as the child was born, the father and his only daughter—all three of them.

"And this is the genius of this memorial service and this, quiet hour here in God's acre: even this, that we'll see each other 'In the morning.' May God bless us in all of our beautiful Columbia, in our homes by our hearth-sides, and in our schools and churches."

A Lost Lecture.

We didn't meet. I chanced to overtake him in the pike leisurely wending his way towards town when I at once considered it an instance of mutual admiration and friendship, almost a case of love on first sight. His mild manner and pleasant appearance were indeed captivating. Being in a communicative mood I at once began to expatiate upon Subjects of vital importance, especially our strained relations with Mexico. To all of which he appeared to give his univided attention and perfect assent, offered no objections when I stated emphatically that both parties over there should be at once exterminated. In fact seemed to be in perfect accord with me on every suggestion—willing to submit each question to the decision of my better informed judgment which naturally impressed me with an exalted opinion of his correct consideration and good breeding flattered myself that there was one man if none other who was able to recognize a gentleman of parts on first acquaintance while his respectful silence seemed to say, you're right, old Doctor, talk on. As he rode near my side, spell-bound to all appearance, I could not compare in my imagination his modest manner with the rude demeanor peculiar to some. I wot of who as the boys say will butt-in, and thereby deprive themselves of much valuable information which of course is their misfortune and no fault of mine. Thus nearing the post office where we encountered the ponderous proportions of the corporeal personality of my congenial cousin, George Staples, and after complimenting the modest manner of my traveling companion inquired what his name might be to which cousin George facetiously replied "that's a deaf and dumb man, James Grissom, who lives near town." I have since decided to have strangers say first.

Leaves Midway.

We deeply regret the going of Bro. J. P. Scruggs from Midway. He has been with us so long that we shall not know how to get along without him. In point of service in a continuous pastorate he is the oldest pastor in Elk-horn Association. During his pastorate of eight years at Midway he has done a most excellent work. The work under his leadership has prospered in all branches, and he has made himself felt as a man of influence in the community as well as in the church. He is greatly beloved and honored by all. He will be missed in the Association and in the state for he was ever ready to share his burden and do his part in the work. He has rendered a notable service in connection with the Georgetown assembly, being largely responsible for its success. Among his brother ministers he is esteemed for his genial bearing, his fraternal spirit, his deep piety and sweetness of spirit. He goes to Fredericktown, Mo., the middle of May. May the Lord richly bless him in his labors there.—Rev. O. O. Green in Woodford Baptist.

Machine Shop.

I have purchased the W. A. Helm outfit, and am located at his former shops on Bomar Heights, Columbia, Ky. I am prepared to do all kinds of work in the way of repairing machinery. I also furnish repairs, in either brass or iron fixtures. I am fully qualified to do all kinds of work. I solicit your patronage. 26-2m J. M. Kearnes.

S. H. Mitchell, Sheriff of Adair county, and one of his deputies, John Thurman, left this morning for Frankfort, having in charge John Thomas, convicted of manslaughter, and Spencer Cheatham, of color, convicted of robbery. Each prisoner will serve indeterminate sentences, the former from two to twenty-one years, the latter from one to five years. The statement made last week, that Cheatham would serve from two to ten years, was a mistake.

District Conference.

The Conference for the M. E. Church South, Columbia District, was held in this place, beginning last Thursday forenoon and continuing until Sunday evening. The introductory sermon was preached by Rev. S. K. Breeding, of Elkhorn, a native of Adair county.

A District Conference is a business meeting, as we understand—the hearing of reports of ministers and delegates, the making known of the needs of the various churches, and the work that is expected to be accomplished before the next meeting of the Louisville Conference. There were many very gratifying reports, and during the session a number of very interesting talks were made by both preachers and laymen. We have not been given the exact number of ministers who were present. Perhaps three or four from each county in the district. Dr. R. W. Browder, of Russellville, who is a noted minister of the Louisville Conference, put in an appearance and made a number of splendid talks.

The Conference was cordially received by the people of Columbia, all the ministers and laymen comfortably located during the session.

The meetings were presided over by Rev. W. F. Hogard, the Presiding Elder of the Columbia district, the most untiring worker in the Louisville Conference, who will carry to the next meeting of the Annual Conference a very satisfactory report from his district. He is doing as much for Methodism as any man who ever went over the hill counties of Kentucky, and his arduous duties are performed in a God fearing and God loving manner.

Sunday forenoon Dr. R. W. Browder delivered a very strong discourse to a packed congregation—one of the most helpful sermons heard in this town for many days.

Sunday night Rev. M. M. Murrell, of Monticello, addressed the Epworth League, making a most interesting talk. There are but few young men who are coming to the front, as a minister, faster than Rev. Murrell. He was born and reared in a few miles of Columbia and his mother lives in this town. All who are closely connected with him are justly proud of his progress as a minister. His schooling has not been neglected, and he has the vim to go forward in his chosen profession. Rev. Calvin Christie, another Adair county boy, who has been in the ministry several years, spoke to a large congregation Saturday night. He, too, is making his mark, his discourse showing that he is recognized as a minister of ability. He is a son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Christie, of Knifey, who pride in the son who is engaged in such a noble calling. During the conference there were seven ministers on the floor, natives of Adair county.

To Obituary Writers.

There is scarcely a county paper in the State that publishes obituaries free. We have been doing it almost weekly since the birth of the News, but the time has come when it is necessary for us to call a halt. Obituaries are of interest only to the family and near relatives of the deceased, and we can not afford to give space free for such character of reading. Hereafter we will accept obituaries at 5 cents per printed line. Seven words in writing will make one line in type. Writers can count and see the amount of cash it will require for an obituary. The writer who sends in an obituary will be charged with the amount, hence he or she had better collect before forwarding the manuscript.

Last week we wrote a notice of the death of John Burbridge, a very worthy colored school teacher of this county, who died at Burkesville where he had been conducting a school for several years. In some way the notice was misplaced, and it did not appear. The remains were brought to Adair county and buried at New Zion, a few miles from Columbia, last Sunday week. His funeral was largely attended. He will be greatly missed by his family and his race of people.

It will be very gratifying to Mr. Frank Jones' many friends to learn that his health is improving. Last week he left his home in Jamestown, went to Louisville and consulted an eminent physician, who put him on a treatment which Mr. Jones think will ultimately cure him.

Judge Carter passed sentence on John Thomas and Spencer Cheatham last Friday forenoon. He gave each of the convicted men some wholesome advice, which if heeded, will make them better men. Neither one offered a reason why the sentence of the Court should not be passed.

Thermometer registered 98 here last Thursday.

Contest Settled.

In the contest proceedings, instituted by Mr. W. T. Ottley, against Judge Geo. T. Herriford, for the office of County Judge of Adair county, the defendant won out. A great many depositions were taken in the case, on both sides, which were submitted to Judge J. C. Carter, who put in several hours in reading same. Thursday afternoon he notified the attorneys on both sides that he was ready to hear the case argued, and at 7:30 o'clock the same day the argument was commenced. Judge W. W. Jones spoke for the defendant, Herriford, and Mr. R. L. Campbell and Mr. Ottley appeared for the plaintiff, both gentlemen speaking.

A few minutes after 9 o'clock Judge Carter rendered his decision. He handed down rather a lengthy opinion, deciding that Judge Herriford was duly elected to the office of County Judge. A record of the judgment was so made and Court adjourned.

Good Show.

This week the Revere-Jackson Show, a band of fourteen vaudeville artists, who are here to entertain the entire week, the exhibition having opened Monday night and will close next Saturday night. The show has been on the road for eleven years, and its success has been wonderful. The singing and acting are first-class and the music is enchanting. It is strictly a moral entertainment. The show carries moving pictures, which is a part of the program, wholesome lessons being drawn from them. The price of admission is 15 and 20 cents, lots of enjoyment for a small sum of money. Come, every body, evenings of pleasure guaranteed to all.

This show is given for the benefit of the Modern Woodman Lodge, of this place.

A gentleman who has been over a large portion of Adair, says that the finest wheat crop that ever grew in the county is about ready to harvest, and that it would be a calamity for a rainy spell to set in. He further says that corn is not suffering, but that grass is needing moisture, and that gardens may need rain. Everything considered, he thinks rain at this time would be very detrimental.

Mr. Robert Caldwell, of Taylor county, son of Mrs. Annie Read Caldwell, a native of Columbia, has been appointed law clerk in the office of Attorney General Garnett at a salary of $1,500 per year. He is a very capable young man.

Prospects fine for an abundant blackberry crop. With an unprecedented wheat crop, soon to be cut, plenty of all kinds of fruit, including peaches, indicates that no one need apprehend starvation.

Circuit court closed last Friday afternoon and Saturday morning Judge Carter left for his home, Tompkinsville. His next court will open at Jamestown Monday week.

While vegetation is not suffering to an alarming extent, rain is needed. Weather prognosticators say that it will come in a few days. It has come.

Mrs. Lou W. Atkins and her daughter, Miss Mabel, have taken rooms in the Hancock building, near the square, to be convenient to their business.

Elizabeth Hudson and Ray Claycomb were the only two who took the common school diploma examination. Both passed, and received their diplomas last week.

Mr. R. G. Reed has accepted the local agency for the Northwestern Life Insurance Company and is now at work for it. It is a good company.

Mrs. Willie B. Hines will occupy a portion of the Atkins residence on Pea Ridge, Mrs. Bettie Atkins remaining in same building.

Go to Mrs. Wilson's Ice Cream Parlor on Burkesville Street. Cream and Sherbert every day. 31-2t

A Tribute.

Written on the death of Hampton Wolford which occurred at Roley, this county, two weeks ago.

Gone in the pride and the bloom of your youth,
Called in the dawning of manhood away,
Gone, but your soul by the river of truth
Happy and sinless is resting to-day.
Scattered around you are lovely Vernal flowers,
Emblems of purity—silently they lie,
Bidding us look from this sad world of ours
Upward to mansions more perfect on high.

Sad are our hearts that we will see you no more,
Vainly we would seek by our tendering of tears
Your spirit's return from that far distant shore,
Where happy it is resting through eternity's years.

And O, as your spirit is happy and free,
Resting in Heaven's eternal glad day,
Mourn we not, then, it was best it should be,
The same hand that gaveth hath taken away.

Gentle and peaceful, O Hampton, be your rest,
Sleeping so calmly while sadly we sigh,
Still with our burdens of sorrow oppressed
We are resting and waiting for the day that is nigh.

Mrs. S. F. White was the hostess of the Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church last Monday afternoon at her pleasant home on the river. During the hour plans were discussed and committee work arranged for the Methodist bazaar to be held early in December. The hostess served refreshments of iced grape juice and cake, and the afternoon was much enjoyed by the ladies present.—Bardentown, Fla., Journal.

Mat Graues, a colored girl employed at the home of Mrs. Nannie Flowers, was knocked in the head with a rock thrown by John Allen Williams, also colored, last Thursday afternoon just before dark. The attack was wholly unwarranted. Williams accusing the Graues girl of telling something on him to a girl he, (Williams), is paying his respects. The wounded girl was not seriously hurt.

In next week's issue we can give more definite news as to the movement to secure a railroad. A delegation from Columbia will be in Louisville this week and will be in position to inform us on return whether or not a real effort will be made to build the road. Watch The News next week, and you will see the situation as it will be presented by the gentlemen who have been appointed to investigate.

Rev. T. L. Hulse, pastor of the Methodist church here, but who lives in Pembroke, has had a streak of misfortunes to strike him. A short time ago he had a fine buggy horse to die, then he borrowed an animal and it died suddenly, and last week he lost a fine milch cow in the same manner.—Fairview letter in Todd County Times.

Monday week circuit court will open at Jamestown. A representative of the News will be in attendance the two first days and he will be pleased to meet all the friends of the paper. If there are parties who need job-work he will give them prices, etc.

There will be a singing at Cane Valley, at the Christian church, the second Sunday afternoon in this month. It will be conducted by the Jericho and Kelleyville classes. Every body invited.

The new church at Tabernacle will be dedicated the fourth Sunday in this month. Eld. J. Q. Montgomery will preach the dedicatory sermon. Dinner on the ground. Every body invited.

4 foot cord wood wanted at once at brickyard, Columbia, $2.50 per cord. W. H. Simms.

Mr. H. B. Garnett has removed from his residence on Lindsey-Wilson street to his farm, a few miles out of town.

Wheat harvest will soon be here. A gentle rain would greatly benefit the crop.

Nearly all the farmers in Adair county are through planting corn.

SHERIFF'S SETTLEMENT, 3191.

A Statement and Settlement of the accounts of A. D. Patteson Sheriff of Adair county, Ky., of the collections and disbursements of forty (40) cents ad valorem, and one ($1.00) dollar poll tax levied by the Adair Fiscal Court at its April term, 1913, for the payment of the current expenses of Adair county for the year 1913.

At the regular October term of the Adair Fiscal Court, 1913, I, A. H. Ballard, was appointed by said Court, as its Commissioner to settle with A. D. Patteson, Sheriff of Adair county, Kentucky, his accounts of collections and disbursements made by him of the taxes levied by said Court at its April term, 1913, to be collected and paid to the creditors of said County by said Sheriff during said year. In compliance with said order of appointment the Sheriff's books were examined to ascertain the amount of said taxes remaining uncollected on the 1st day of January, 1914, in order to charge said Sheriff with the 6 per cent. penalty which by law is added to all unpaid taxes on said date.

The Sheriff is charged with 3,518 polls listed by the Assessor for taxation for the year 1913, and with 22 polls listed by the County Clerk.

The Sheriff is charged with 25 cents ad valorem tax on each $100 on $2,735.923.00 worth of taxable property for the General Fund and 15 cents on each $100 on said valuation for Road Fund, and with 25 cents ad valorem on each $100 for General Fund and 15 cents on each $100 for Road Fund on $19,494.00 listed by said County Clerk, and with 25 cents ad valorem on each $100 for General Fund and 15 cents on each $100 for Road Fund on $1,800.00 Franchise Tax listed by said County Clerk.

The Sheriff is charged with the Franchise tax on the different corporations doing business in Adair county, Kentucky.

The Sheriff is charged with 6 per cent penalty on all unpaid taxes on January 1st, 1914, which makes the Sheriff's debits as follows:

DEBITS.	General Fund	Road Fund

A bunch of twelve Court orders of release was shown your Commissioner releasing 108 persons from paying an ad valorem tax on, a total $62,216 worth of property listed twice, wrongfully listed or on persons who had gone from the State and no property found out of which to make said taxes; said Sheriff is therefore given credit by 25c on each $100 worth of said property for the General Fund. $155.54; and 15c on each $100 for the Road Fund $93.32 said Court orders are filed herewith as part hereof.

Deducting $155.54 release from the total debit of General Fund leaves a debit of $10 610 47
Deducting $92.32 release from the total debit of Road Fund leaves a debit of $4 242 26
The total of the General Fund debits and the Road Fund debits is $14 852 73
For collecting the above amount said Sheriff is given credit by the commission allowed by law of 10 per cent. on the first $5 000 and 4 per cent. on the remaining $9 852 73

Balance due by Sheriff for year 1913 $1 716 48
Your Commissioner finds and so reports that said A. D. Patteson, Sheriff of Adair County, is indebted to said County on the General Fund in the sum of $455 23, and on the Road Fund in the sum of $1 231 20; a sum total of $1 716 48 less $25.00 paid your Commissioner for making this settlement and subject to the delinquent taxes and releases allowed by the Fiscal Court for the year 1913.

All of which is most respectfully reported.

A. H. Ballard, Com'r.
Adair Fiscal Court.
Kentucky, Adair County, Set.

I, Walker Bryant, Clerk Adair County Court, certify that the foregoing statement and settlement of the collection and disbursements of A. D. Patteson, Sheriff, Adair County, for 1913 was April 1st, 1914 filed and ordered recorded, which is now done accordingly.

SHERIFF'S SETTLEMENT. SCHOOL FUND.

A STATEMENT and SETTLEMENT of the accounts of A. D. Patteson Sheriff of Adair County, Kentucky, of the collections and disbursements of the ten (10c) cents ad valorem tax and the fifty (50c) cents poll tax levied by the Adair Fiscal Court, at its April term 1913, on all taxable property and persons in Adair County, not in the Graded Common School District of the town of Columbia, and ordered collected and paid to the Treasurer of the County Board of Education for the year 1913.

The total taxable property in Adair County, Ky., for the said year is $2,755 417. From this amount is deducted the taxable property in the Graded School District of $577 626 leaving a balance of $2 177 791. Said Sheriff is therefore charged with 10c ad valorem tax on each $100 worth of said amount, for Common School purposes, which is $2 177 791

The total number of Polls in Adair County is 3540. From this number is deducted 311 the number in the Graded School District leaving 3229. Said Sheriff is charged with a poll tax of 50c on each of the 3229 polls a total of $1614 50

Said Sheriff is charged with the Franchise tax on the corporations doing business in Adair County not in the Graded School District.

The Sheriff is charged with 6 per cent., penalty on all unpaid taxes on January 1st, 1914, in said County outside the Graded School District; 6 per cent., penalty on $1 096 20 is $65 77; 2-10 for School Fund, is $13 15

Much depends on the master, whether a horse is to be broken or being skittish. The habits and temperament of the animal must be studied very closely, after which he must be handled accordingly. With some horses, the blind bridle may help by confining the range of the animal's view; with others the open bridle is necessary, in order that is going on around him. In all cases, gentle handling counts for much.

A Pen Picture of John C. C. Mayo.

(By Daniel E. O'Sullivan.)

Let me draw an intimate portrait of John Mayo. It will help us to understand him better.
Physically he does not demand the attention of the admiration that lovers of the beautiful might find in Beveridge or Bailey.
He is below the average height but sturdily knit together. There is no outward sign of the empire builder. In any company he would be ranked as the least significant member, until there was a great task to undertake, when he would pass at once into masterful leadership.

The kindly mouth is constantly throwing off ripples of mirth that gives color to his cheeks and widen into waves of laughter that submerge his genial countenance.

Gentle eyes flash through his glasses message of friendship.
They greet the stranger cheerily.
Their very frankness spells victory. His battle is half won when he takes your hand, not with the slimy insistence of a politician, but with a firm, assuring heartiness. No one leaves his presence without being recruited in the army of his friends, from which there are no deserters. The undaunted courage that upheld him through the pit-iless years of failure is expressed in his challenging chin in his square jaw, where resolution sits enthroned.

He can say "yes" until it rhymes like money set to music, so melodic is it; but he can say
"no" until it sounds like thunder from Mount Sinai to the man who has earned the rebuke.

Engrossed as he is in business deals that involve millions, he finds time to listen to the hundreds who seek his counsel, cooperation or assistance. His patience is so monumental that it annoys his intimates.

He will grant hours of his valuable time to a visionary who wants to survey an aeroplane route to the moon rather than wound his feelings.

John Mayo's success has been built on these basic qualities—faith, gratitude, in his star of destiny. He has followed it since a boy across the trackless waste, loyalty—and it will endure. He believes Clouds have obscured it, the mountains have hid it, the shadows of the valleys have blotted it out, but with his conscience as his guide he has walked the straight path and kept the faith. His life is dedicated to rewarding those who have even rendered him the slightest service.

No bitterness stains his heart.
He has long since forgiven those who doubted him. He has put Paintsville on the map, given it the comforts of a city; made it a partner in his prosperity. This magic wand has been waved over the heads of countless friends, and they have been awakened by a shower of gold. He delights in doing good. He counts that day lost wherein a cruel or unworthy act is recorded.

Wider Skirts Have Arrived.

In the June Woman's Home Companion Grace Margaret Gould, fashion editor of the publication, writes an article entitled "Skirts Flare Out—Behold the Pantalette!" in which she comments on the pantalette of today and yesterday and other new French fashion frivolities. Following is an extract:

"The big new fashion act to consider is that wider skirts have definitely arrived in Paris. It is an old, old trick of fashion that the moment her devotees have accommodated themselves to one of her whims, she quickly introduces another. Women have been struggling for a long time to learn to mince along without landing on their heads. Now, with wider skirts, will come the stride."

Cricket Hicks was a pleasant caller to see the widow of the Calf Ribs neighborhood Sunday.
Cricket goes there so much the dawgs have lost interest and quit

There has been some complaint about the train stopping too sudden when it gets to the Tickville depot every week. This could be remedied by the railroad being about two feet longer there.

Miss Flutie Belucher accidentally lost her engagement ring the other day somewhere along the road. She is not worried much about it—some other fellow will be along before long to give her another one.

A delegation has put after the Deputy Constable to join the church, but he is afraid to try it, as the public might take advantage of his presence at church every Sunday by doing something wrong.

A calf is missing from the Rye Straw section. The owner, who runs the store there, was in Hogwallow yesterday looking for it. Nobody, however, in this community has stole a calf within the past several days.

The deacons of the Hog Ford church held a called business meeting Tuesday of this week to decide on whether or not the clock in the church should be allowed to run all the week or just on Sundays. The board has been divided on this question for some time, the conservative faction taking the stand that there was no need of the clock running unless the congregation that bought it was present to enjoy the benefits. The progressives, however, stood pat on the proposition, and the meeting adjourned without a decision.

Bakerton.

On last Sunday evening Mr. G.
M. Dillon and Miss Lucy Baker drove over to Little Renox creek, where they met the preacher and a large crowd of people, and there Bro. Caughron made them one. We wish them a long and happy life.

News reached here this week that Mrs. Bertha Burchett, who has tuberculosis, and is in a hospital in New York, is improving.
The doctors think by the weather turning warm, she may get up for awhile and be able to come home.

The river is about gone for this season. It is too low for steamboats. They have done an immense amount of business this season. So far they haven't missed a single trip since they started in January.

J. C. Winfrey and J. F. Ellingbusiness. They came back yesterday.

James Parrish, a little son of Bob Parrish, the ferryman, has a bad case of typhoid at this writing, and is not improving any.

John Goff has come home for a while. He has been staying with his brothers in Columbia, all winter.

Bob Parrish killed a large walloon in the river yesterday—weighed 6½ pounds.

The river is full of nice fish now, and the fishermen are having fine luck.

The farmers are making good use of the dry weather preparing and planting corn and killing weeds. Some places the ground is getting too hard to plow.

G. D. Parrish lost a fine mare a few days ago. She left a little colt a week old. He was offered

ANNOUNCEMENT.

FOR JUDGE OF COURT OF APPEALS.

We are authorized to announce BOLLIN HURT a candidate for Judge of the Court of Appeals, in the Third district, subject to the action of the Democratic voters, expressed at the August primary.

Gov. McCreary has announced that he will appoint Mr. Camden, of Woodford county, United States Senator to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Bradley. So far as we know Mr. Camden may be the right man and he may not be. He has not, however had the experience that some others have had in legislative matters, but he is wealthy, and that seems to cover a multitude of other things. In looking over the field of available men, men who have proven their ability to represent the interests of this State, we do not find a superior of Hon. Dave Smith. He is a Democrat, a man of force and ability with a record in the lower house of Congress that stands as a guarantee of his worth. Mr. Smith has given good service to party and to State, and it would have been a great pleasure to his many friends in this section had he been designated to fill the vacancy. He is likely to be a candidate for the short term in the August primary, and the Democrats can have their say in no unmistakable terms.

The sinking of the Empress in the St. Lawrence river last Friday, adds another heavy loss of life to sea-going vessels. Nine hundred and sixty four perished, while only four hundred and three were rescued. The disaster was due to heavy fog and apparently reckless management of the vessel that sent the Empress to the bottom. An investigation is now on, and we trust that due punishment will be meted to the party responsible, should it be proven that the accident was due to recklessness.

The attempt of the South American diplomats to adjust the troubles between this government and Mexico, and also to settle the rebellion in that country, reports satisfactory progress. So far matters are still complicated, and it is our opinion that the peace envoys have selected the proper location to adjust the troubles, for after all the whole thing is likely to adjust itself, and the negotiation can be pushed over the Niagara Falls.

The perpetrator of the horrible crime of murdering a little girl at Danville, has not been apprehended. A large reward has been offered, and detectives are at work on the case. If the guilty party is caught he will certainly sit in an electric chair.

The race for the Democratic nomination for Congress in the Third district is growing quite warm. The present incumbent is opposed by two other gentlemen. One of the candidates might defeat Mr. Thomas, but two can not. All three have active supporters, and speaking appointments are being filled.

More About Boots Owens and Other Matters of Long Ago.

Editor News:—

The mention of the death of Boots (George) Owens, in your issue of the 13th inst., recalls again my boyhood days. He was the property of my Uncle, Ham Owens, and was a character. In my grandmother's yard, (the old Owens homestead) there was a granite dairy, in the basement of which there was a hand corn mill, and I never saw or heard of Boots doing any harder work than grinding meal for family use. Just outside the graveyard she had a fine apple orchard, and I was privileged to get apples whenever I liked. One day returning from the orchard, I heard the mill running, and having plenty of time, for I was a gentleman of elegant leisure that day, I strolled by to see the sights. Boots was on hand as usual, and with him a little negro boy about my age and size, who called himself John Crouch Josef Taylor, whom grandmother had bought somewhere. Boots, who knew I was a beligerant sort of a fellow, and who also wanted to have some fun, said to me, "Heck, can't you whip this little nigger?" My reply was, "I don't know, I will try him." I set my basket of apples in a safe place, and soon had the best of John Crouch. After he had been initiated into the mysteries of the manly act of self defense, he became one of us, and we were boon companions. I would fight for him as quick as I would for either of my brothers. Poor John, I learned afterwards that he went to Lebanon and killed himself drinking Kentucky coffin varnish (whiskey). Although a boy only 8 years old, I remember distinctly when Boots went with Uncle Ham to Mexico and when they returned. I agree with 'Squire John Eubank (God bless him) that Boots was never in Mexico except as a servant. If he was a soldier, he was not a very valiant one, for he brought back from Mexico a small image of one of the Saints that he stole from a Catholic church in a town from which the Mexicans had been driven. The pilfering had been done he said while the battle was still being fought. I do not recall the Saint represented by the image, nor the town from which it was stolen. I was only a kid then, and names and places did not impress me much. I saw the image that he said came from Mexico, and that was enough for me. I think if Boots had ever been a soldier, I would have found it out, for I had a wonderful faculty for wanting to know things.

I am so glad the railroad boom is not dead. Dear old Columbia, how I would love to see her get in the business service. I have not known much of her and her good people for more than 50 years, but it is a dear old place, for most of my loved ones sleep in her silent city, and all but two of us still linger "round the loved spot that my infancy knew," waiting for the Master's voice to join the blood washed throng.

Don't stop agitating until the road is built. I will send you the article promised as soon as I get the history which is now being read by a friend. God bless the News force and all its readers.

Respt.,

George Heck Burton.

BAPTIST WORKER'S ASSEMBLY.

Dawson Springs, Ky.—June 28 to July 3, 1914.

For four years the Baptist of West Kentucky, and other section of the state have met together at Dawson Springs to listen to "the great Baptist leaders of the South." This meeting has grown in interest till last year it reached the high water mark and over five hundred people assembled to hear these great men.

The date of the meeting this year is June 28 to the 3rd of July, and it is hoped that at least one thousand people will avail themselves of the opportunity to attend. Every effort has been put forth to make this meeting not only the equal of last year; but, if possible, to surpass it. With such as Mrs. Kate Hinkle, Miss Leachman and Miss Brenckman to represent W. M. U. work, Rev. Harvey Beauchamp, N. T. Barnes and Miss Brenckman for S. S. work, Mr. Arthur Flake and Mr. N. T. Barnes for B. Y. P. U. work, as well as our own Drs. Powell and Perkins of Ky., and Dr. C. B. Williams, Mr. H. Z. Duke and Dr. J. B. Gambrell, of Texas, who will represent other Baptist interests, we have no sense of failure in reaching this high standard.

In addition to the above attraction, we have secured Mr. and Mrs. Scholfield, the Gospel Singers, so well known in the South, to lead the music.

At this time rates will be obtained at the hotels and also on the Rail Roads, making the opportunity a splendid one to enjoy the healing waters of Dawson Springs and the many advantages of the Assembly. Certainly every Baptist Pastor and Superintendent in West Kentucky should attend and bring large delegations of their people. Every phase of denominational work will be discussed.

From this Assembly we are sure that great good will come to all organizations represented. Brethren, decide at once to come and make your plans accordingly. The following hotels have been kind enough to entertain our speakers and to give special rates.

NAMES OF HOTELS AND RATES.

Hamby House $1 a day, Dixon House $1 a day, Phillips House $1 a day, Hendrix House $1 a day, Mrs. B. T. Davis $1 a day, Glenn House $1 a day, Summit House $1 a day, Arcadia Hotel $1.50 a day and New Century Hotel $2.50 a day.

For accommodations write direct to the hotels.

For general information write to J. J. Gentry, general manager 205 East Chestnut St., Louisville, Ky.

Ozark.

Farmers of this community are about done planting corn. Wheat and grass look well, but the gardens need rain.

Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Bryant left for Champaign, Ill., a few days ago, having received word that their married daughter was dangerously ill.

Mr. A. R. Neathery and wife, of Clinton county, are visiting Mr. W. J. Gabbert and wife. Mrs. Nethery is a sister of Mr. Gabbert.

Mr. and Mrs. Nethery and Mrs. W. J. Gabbert were visitors at Mr. T. J. Bryant's last Thursday.

Tim, the little son of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bryant, was seriously hurt last Thursday. He was running, and ran against a rake, the teeth cutting a severe gash on his face. Tim is a bright, industrious little boy—an exception for one of his age.

Mrs. J. H. Barger, this place, has a darning needle, that she has used when occasion demanded, for twenty-eight years. It was the property of her mother-in-law, Mrs. Daniel Barger.

Mrs. Morris, who has been very low for several months, is no better. She hasn't laid down for several weeks. Sits propped in a chair day and night.

Mr. Ruberts, of Pellyton, spent last Sunday night with his daughter, Mrs. L. B. Maupin, of this place. He was on his way to Columbia to serve as a juror.

BAPTIST SUMMER ASSEMBLY.

Georgetown, Ky., July 6-10, 1914.

The Baptist Summer Assembly will be held at Georgetown, Ky., from July 6th to July 10th inclusive. Mr. George M. Newell, Local Chairman, Georgetown, Ky., assures us that ample accommodations will be provided for all who wish to attend. He desires all those who are going to the Assembly to write at once to him for reservation. First come, first served. Please do not delay writing him.

We have arranged an excellent program. The speakers are among the best we have in the Southland. They are Field Secretary, Arthur Flake, of the B. Y. P. U. work, east of the Mississippi, Field Secretary, L. P. Leavell, of the Baptist Sunday School Board, Dr. C. B. Williams, of the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary, Fort Worth, Texas, Dr. Lincoln Hulley, president Stetson University, Leland, Fla., Dr. B. D. Gray, Cor. Secy., Baptist Home Mission Board, Atlanta, Ga., Dr. F. D. Perkins, Cor. Secy., Kentucky Baptist Educational Society, Louisville, Ky., Dr. T. M. Hawes, of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, Louisville, Ky., Dr. C. M. Thompson, pastor First Baptist Church, Hopkinsville, Ky. Among others on the program are Miss Margaret A. Frost, Elementary Specialists Nashville, Tenn., Miss Kathleen Mallory, Cor. Secy., W. M. U. auxiliary to the Southern Baptist Convention.

We are putting special stress

Ready for To-morrow?

Horses digest their feed less thoroughly than other farm animals. In order to insure thorough digestion of all the food eaten, and to make your horses ready for next day's work, add to their evening feed a teaspoonful of—

Bee Dee STOCK MEDICINE

It will lessen your feed bills.
It will increase your profits.

I am using Bee Dee STOCK MEDICINE with my horses regularly and find it a saving proposition on feed. It also makes them healthy, thriving and clean.

Gone to Rest.

The death Angel visited the home of Mr. and Mrs. Tom Garmon and claimed for its victim their youngest daughter, Miss Ora, just in the bright bloom of life, being twenty-two years old. She professed faith in Christ at an early age and united with the Baptist church of which she was a consistent member until death. Ora often told her loved ones she was willing and ready to go. Parents it is hard for us to part with our children, but we would say, weep not for her, for she is now safe in that beautiful home that Jesus went to prepare for his children, where no one can take it from them.

Ora wrote Bro. Pardeu a letter just a short time before her death, requesting him to preach her funeral and also selected the chapter from which to preach.

Her request was for six of her school mates to carry her casket. The casket was covered with beautiful flowers.

Funeral services were held at the Baptist church, at Big Creek, by her pastor, Bro. Pardeu. The church was filled with heart-broken friends and relatives, who had gathered to pay the last sad rites. She is survived by her father, mother, two brothers and two sisters.

Her remains were laid to rest in the family graveyard near Big Creek church.

Written by one of her friends
Myrtie Cole.

Alleged Hog Cholera Cures.

A letter from the Department at Washington to this paper says:

Evidence of what appears to be a well organized campaign to delude farmers throughout the country into buying an alleged cure for hog cholera under the impression that this has been investigated and approved by the United States Government, has reached the Department of Agriculture. Articles appraising this medicine, Benetol by name, are being sent out widespread to newspapers. These articles are so worded that it appears as if the Department of Agriculture had received reports from the State of Minnesota showing that the medicine had proved most beneficial. As a matter of fact the one report received by the Department was an unofficial and unsolicited statement sent presumably from the promoters themselves. The Department attaches no importance whatsoever to this statement. It has no reason to believe in the efficiency of any proprietary cure for hog cholera and does not recommend any. Under certain conditions it urges farmers to protect their stock with anti-hog-cholera serum but that is all.

We Never Did.

A few days ago a know-it-all called our attention to the fact that we "never saw a bald-headed woman," says an exchange. Well, what of that? There are a good many things we never saw a woman do. We never saw a woman who would refuse to subscribe for the home paper because it advocates temperance and law enforcement. We never saw a woman sit on a dry goods box and "cuss" out the town because she couldn't buy a bottle of bootleg poison. We never saw a woman go fishing with a bottle of "bait" in her hip pocket sit all day on the damp ground, go home drunk at night and abuse her husband and children because they didn't believe a lie she told about a "big fish" that broke the hook and got away after she had nearly landed it. We never saw a woman yank off her coat, give her pants a hitch, spit on her hands and swear she could whip the biggest man in town. Come to think of it, there are a good many things we never saw a woman do, and don't want to, either.

Take Pichtly of Time to Eat.

There is a saying that "rapid eating is slow suicide." If you have formed the habit of eating too rapidly you are most likely suffering from indigestion or constipation, which will result eventually in serious illness unless corrected. Digestion begins in the mouth. Food should be thoroughly masticated and insalivated. Then when you have a fullness of the stomach or feel dull and stupid after eating, take one of Chamberlain's Tablets. Many severe cases of stomach trouble and constipation have been cured by the use of these tablets. They are easy to take and most agreeable in effect. Sold by Paul Drug Co.

The Matter of Farm Equipments.

Let every farmer have the best equipments possible with the means at hand—the more implements the better, other things being equal—but let no one refuse to do his best because his neighbors are better prepared than himself. A man of the writer's acquaintance manages to make a fair crop every year without plowing his land, for the reason that no equine has fallen to his share of the world's goods. He grows his crops on the hillside of his little farm by digging with a good mattock, and that patiently while his neighbors plow their lands. Let every farmer equip himself for work commensurate with his means, but no one should mortgage his property to purchase implements, when the outcome would be doubtful, with a probable leaning to foreclosure. Better dig your potatoes with a sharpened stick than to purchase a hoe, and let all the potatoes go to pay for it.

Cures Stubborn, Itchy Skin Troubles

"I could scratch myself to pieces" is often heard from sufferers of Eczema, Tetter, Itch and similar Skin Eruptions. Don't Scratch—Stop the Itching at once with Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment. Its first application starts healing; the red, rough, scaly, itching skin is soothed by the Healing and Cooling Medicines. Mrs. C. A. Einfeldt, Rock Island, Ill., after using Dr. Hobson's Eczema Ointment writes: "This is the first time in nine years I have been free from the dreadful ailment." ## Homemade Philosophy.

Men are never lost, except to happiness. Most everybody is religious, except in practice. Deep thinkers make dry reading for those unable to dive to the bottom of facts.

Music is life in tune; sorrow is the discord of misfortune, poverty and darkened hope.

Sympathy is so inexpensive, but some people avoid it for fear it may humanize their hearts.

Mystery is only facts hidden in the mists and smoke of the distance still unsurveyed.

If the salary was $20,000 a year, a whole lot of politicians would have a call to preach.

What the world knows about God could be put in a very small book of pious guesses.

It is so hard to teach children economy and thrift without teaching them avarice and greed.

The open-hand man has an open heart, but the opening in his pocket may be at the bottom end.

Dope, drugs and delusion are always on tap where doctors, dopers and diplomats doctor the dear deluded.

Man's inhumanity to man comes through one man trying to force the others to support him in idleness.

When we see two people together we think they know each other. Now, were you ever with anybody you knew all the way through—even your own child?

The Peevish Child Needs a Laxative

It is natural for a child to laugh and play and when it sulks drowsily or cries you may depend on it something physical is the matter. If you see no evidences of a serious ailment you will not be wrong if you quietly give it a dose of mild laxative that evening on putting it to bed.

The remedy most generally recommended for this purpose is Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which mothers throughout the country have been giving their children for a quarter of a century. Today thousands of families are using it where hundreds used it then, and there must be good reason for this word of mouth recommendation.

It is admittedly the perfect laxative for children, women, old people and all others who need a gentle bowel stimulant and not a violent salt, cathartic pill or doctored water. Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin will act gently, and when taken before retiring will bring complete satisfaction in the morning. After a short use of this remedy all forms of outside aid can be dispensed with and nature will again act alone.

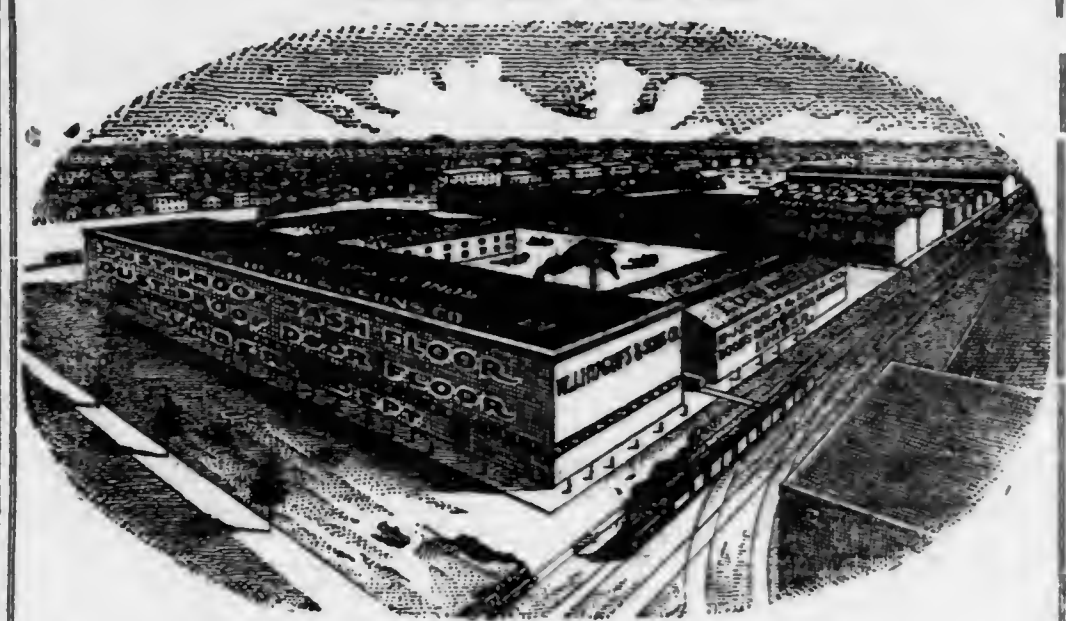

All classes of good American people keep it in the home for ill of the stomach, liver and bowels, and among the thousands who have written the doctor that they will never be without it are Mrs. J. W. Haynes, Brady, Ky., and Mrs. E. L. Weeks, 1744 W. 2nd St., Owensboro, Ky. A dose of it has saved many a person from a serious illness.

Anyone wishing to make a trial of this remedy before buying it in the regular way of a druggist at fifty cents or one dollar a large bottle (family size) can have a sample bottle sent to the home free of charge by simply addressing Dr. W. B. Caldwell, 405 Washington St., Monticello, Ill. Your name and address on a postal card will do.

We would be pleased to send the Daily State Journal, Frankfort, from now until the first of April for 50 cents. Or better still we will furnish the Adair County News, one year and the Daily State Journal until April last for $1.25. If you want to keep in touch with the doings at Frankfort while the Legislature is in session, you should have the State Journal.

It will pay well to keep the garden in the best of condition if the weather threatens to be dry. Where one can manage to keep the surface soil stirred to a depth of two or three inches every three days the dust mulch thus will be maintained and the moisture from beneath will stop when it reaches this close-fitting blanket of fine dust. The common hoe, besides being a fine weapons for destroying weeds, is an excellent tool for forming the dust mulch. In fact, all small tools used for cultivation in the garden are adapted to forming the dust mulch, since the dirt easily can be smoothed down after them, thereby leaving the minimum amount of the soil exposed to the sun and wind for drying out.

When to Apply Lime.

"The best time to apply lime, says M. A. Bachtell, of the College of Agriculture, Ohio State University, "is during the preparation of the seed bed for corn. The thorough cultivation of this crop mixes the lime with the upper soil. By the time clover is sown on that soil, the lime has changed it from a sour to a sweet condition. The time for applying lime, however, admits of wide variation. Usually a busy spring compels the farmer to spent his time in getting ready for the season's planting. If liming is neglected it can be done at the time of the preparation of the seed bed for wheat. Lime should not be applied to the surface and immediately plowed under, as this tends to place it too far from the surface, where it is needed. Neither should the caustic forms (hydrated lime and quicklime) be applied in connection with manure and fertilizers. It is better to plow the manure under and put the lime on top of the soil. In case the manure is desired for top dressing, the lime should be worked into the soil at least two weeks prior to application of the manure. Likewise it is well to apply the lime some time previous to commercial fertilizers."

Can't Keep It Secret.

The splendid work of Chamberlain's Tablets is daily becoming more widely known. No such grand remedy for stomach and liver troubles has ever been known. For sale by Paull Drug Co.

A Plan for the Boy.

Mr. Farmer, how about that crop which the boy is going to plant this spring? Have you encouraged him in planning it? A small field of popcorn or peanuts will interest him as well as furnish him with spending money.

Give the boy one or two acres in the corner of the field, and let him plow and plant, and tend the crop, so that he will be able to claim it as his own. Let him plant popcorn or peanuts—or a few vegetables could be easily sold to the housewives of the neighboring town. Peanuts can be grown without much trouble, and are almost always a successful crop, as they are not materially affected by dry weather. If planted, care should be taken not to plant it near field corn, as the two will mix to the ruin of both.

By encouraging the boy to plant popcorn or peanuts, enough will be raised for the winter at home and some to sell at the grocery. Let the boy do the selling, and let him keep the money that he gets. A small start like this will make him ambitious to raise a larger crop next year, and his interest in farm work will be insured.

Shake off Your Rheumatism.

Now is the time to get rid of your rheumatism. Try a twenty-five cent bottle of Chamberlain's Liniment and see how quickly your rheumatic pains disappear. Sold by Paull Drug Co.

Successor of John C. Mayo.

It is up to the State Central and Executive Committees to name successor of John C. Mayo on the National Democratic Committee. It is very much more important matter than the honoring of some well-known Democrat. It should be remembered that the last National Democratic Committee was subservient to the interests and to Boss Murphy in recommending for Judge Alton B. Parker, Temporary Chairman of the Baltimore Convention, over the protest of W. J. Bryan; that back of this was an avowed purpose to take the leadership of the party away from Mr. Bryan and to nominate for President a conservative who would be satisfactory to the Belmont's, the Ryan's and to that class of Democrats. If the matter had rested entirely with the National Committee the purpose of the Conservatives would have been accomplished. Kentucky's National Committeeman voted for Judge Parker. When Mr. Bryan, seeing the danger to Progressive Democracy, allowed his name to be offered for Temporary Chairman from the floor of the Convention the great majority of the Kentucky delegation voted against him. Included in the list of those who voted against Bryan were Gov. McCreary, Judge Allie Young, J. N. Camden and Rufus Vansant. Mr. Bryan only received three and a half votes out of Kentucky's 26 votes. These were cast by such loyal Democrats as Ollie M. James, J. C. W. Beckham, and Owsley Stanley. Mr. Bryan saved the Democratic party from the control of Belmont. Ryan and Murphy in spite of the National Democratic Committee and the majority of the Kentucky delegation, and succeeded in securing the nomination of Woodrow Wilson.

The same fight may be repeated when the next Democratic candidate for President is named. If Wilson is not a candidate to succeed himself, W. J. Bryan will be the candidate of the progressives. Kentucky should name as National Committeeman a true blue, Bryan-Wilson Democrat, not for office or from policy, but a Democrat fully in accord with the principles for which our two distinguished leaders have fought. There should be named for this important post of honor some Democrat who has never wavered in his support of Bryan, who has no ax to grind, who is not controlled by the liquor interest or any other interest. Only this kind of a Democrat will be acceptable to the rank and file of the party.—E-Town News.

Gradyville.

We are getting distressfully dry in this community at this time.

G. B. Taylor, of Columbia, was with our merchants last Friday, looking after produce.

George Hunn, of Columbia, was through here the first of the week contracting lambs for future delivery.

Wesley Burton is having an addition put to his dwelling at this time.

Beatrice Sparks, who has been visiting in Cumberland county, for the past week or so, returned home the first of the week.

Strong Hill spent several days in Columbia last week attending Court.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Durham, of Greensburg, spent one night in our city last week.

James Gilpin, of Sparksville, was in our midst last Friday, having some blacksmithing done, preparatory for plowing corn.

Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Moss and son spent last Sunday with relatives in the Fairplay community.

Edgar Diddle, who has been inschool, for the past nine months at Columbia, returned home the first of the week.

Misses Ora and Mallie Moss in company with Miss Mollie Flowers, spent last week in Columbia attending District Conference.

Mr. McCleand, of Burkesville, in company with Mr. C. Crenshaw, of Columbia, spent one night in our city last week.

Mr. John Morrison, of Columbia, while in our midst last Friday, bought several nice trees from Mr. James Gilpin, of Sparkville. The trees will be sawed in shipping lumber near this place.

James Diddle spent last week in the Dean woods; near this place, hauling logs for Hicks & Durham, of Greensburg. They have quite a lot of lumber on their yard ready for market at this time.

L. C. Hindman and his daughter, Miss Mabel, of Columbia, spent last Saturday visiting relatives in our city.

Mrs. Merida Wilson spent last week visiting relatives in the Price's Creek community.

Mrs. A. T. Sherrill is visiting friends and relatives at Campbellsville and Lebanon at this time.

Mr. Clay Kinnaird, of Red Lick, was in our midst last Friday and reports wheat crops fine but oats and meadow grass a little short on the account of the continued drouth in his section.

Mr. John Holladay, one of our oldest and reliable school teachers, called in to see us last Friday, while enroute for Columbia, and informed us that he had been employed to teach the school at Price's Creek, in the same district that he taught last year.

Miss Emma Bragg, of Jamestown, spent a day or so visiting relatives in our city last week.

Our old friend, Ed C. Caldwell, of Glasgow, in company with Robert Reed, of Columbia, called in to see us one day last week. Mr. Caldwell is one of the first insurance men that ever worked in this section of county, something like twenty-five or thirty years ago and has been in this business ever since.

Purdy.

People are planting their new ground.

Miss Cora Burton died yesterday morning after a long illness.

Mr. Laban Burton is in a bad condition.

Miss Wannie Grimsley and Mr. Lilburn Breeding eloped to Tennessee, last Sunday night.

Mr. Willie Burton and wife visited the latter's parents last Sunday.

Our Sunday School is progressing nicely under the management of Mr. Henry Gooden.

The pie supper at Bear Wallow, the second Saturday in May, was largely attended, as it was at Purdy, the 6th of last November, but the cake did not bring quite as much. It brought $10, and Miss Allie Burton was the prettiest girl, and the cake at Purdy brought $43.15, and Miss Cordella McQueary was the prettiest girl.

Little Deally McQueary visited her grand parents several days last week.

Mr. R. W. Harmon filled his appointment the second Sunday in May, and had a large attendance. Come again Brother Harmon.

Mrs. Ellen Campbell is better at this writing.

Mr. Tom Hadley and family visited Mr. Henry Gooden and family, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Martha Burton visited her sister, Mrs. Thompson Burton, Saturday.

The burning of Mr. F. W. Thompson's new ground was a success. It didn't only burn the brush and logs, but it also burned the top of the ground and some of his green wheat.

We'll I hope we are going to have rain pretty soon for it is very much needed.

Mr. John Campbell and wife, visited his sick mother, last week.

Miss Cordella McQueary and Miss Myrtie Burton visited Mrs. Maud McQueary one day last week.

Misses Martha and Pearl McQueary were the guests of Miss Jane Burton last Monday.

An Excursion on Barren River.

Editor News:—

Thinking perhaps some of the readers of the News might have a degree of anxiety to acquire information relative to the annual boat excursion given to the students and faculty of the West Normal on May 23, I wish to offer a few lines of information.

This occasion is one looked forward to by the student body with an anticipation of pleasure which affords recreation of both the mental and intellectual forces.

When the hour arrived for this august throng to take its departure from the city, they promptly assembled around Central Park, where a well-manned force of cars were in wait. When orders were received the cars were rapidly boarded, and as they passed down Main Street echoing applause passed from car to car.

Upon reaching the wharf, we discovered two large steamers awaiting our arrival: namely the (Bowling Green and Chaperon.)

At 8 o'clock both vessels steamed out with Bowling Green in the lead. Shortly after leaving we who were on the leading boat discovered that we were honored by the President, who chose to go on our vessel. Here it may be well to make mention of some of the characteristics of this meandering stream and the country immediately surrounding. These things readily attracted the attention of the students.

As stated above, the course of this stream is very winding, containing some good examples of the ox-bow loops as found on the course of the Mississippi and other streams of more importance.

Barren river contains a very insignificant area of bottom land, as the imbankment which is somewhat peculiar in its formation. In some instances a visit abruptly even from the waters edge to a lofty altitude. The most attractive piece of architectural work we witnessed was Brown's Lock, which we found ourselves detained in, after two hours constant decent of the stream.

For the benefit of those who may not have chanced to see and study the structure of a lock and dam, I wish to say that if you have any difficulty in forming a definite opinion as to their structure that when you have the opportunity to see one, you will find the mechanism very simple, and that they are founded on a very economical bases.

The dam above mentioned is found to be of vast importance as it makes navigation possible throughout the year as far up as as Bowling Green. Otherwise this would be an unprofitable stream as far as navigation is concerned.

After a short detainment in the lock the lower gate was opened and again we found ourselves in pursuit of our journey. After closely observing the vast number of natures grandeurs we came to land at the noon hour at the place familiarly known by the students, as Sabley's Rock.

In a short time the Chaperon, who had lagged behind landed at our side. As soon as means of passage could be obtained, a hearty cooperation insured by parties of both boats.

At this juncture a sufficient supply of lunches for all were served, which was prepared by the domestic science department of the Normal School.

After refreshments had been served throngs began to ascend the surrounding hills, and make explorations in the forests, while a number of the young men were busily engaged bathing in the portion of water which surrounded the boats.

At 3:30 the Chaperon backed out and renewed its voyage up stream, being closely pursued by the Bowling Green. Here the leading vessel, without being detained anywhere, reached its destination about 6 o'clock. The pursuing vessel landed at Greencastles where we were detained for some time. After which we again passed the locks and from thence we were carried directly to our final landing place, where we again boarded our cars and in a short space of time found ourselves nearing the source of invigorating inspiration in which Western Kentucky should pride.

Last Wednesday, while Eli Rossen and daughter, Lucy, were enroute to Columbia, going down the hill to Petit's Fork, they met an auto, which excited his mule. He told them to stop, but they only laughed at them, knocking over Mr. Rossen, and caused the mule to plunge sideways and break out one shaft of the buggy. The auto made no halt. It was owned by some parties of Burkesville. Autoists ought to be made to respect other peoples rights to the road, or be made to come off.

A mule colt belonging to Bob Simpson, of this place, got its leg broke last week.
